In these extraordinary verses, Sri Krishna calls attention, again very briefly, to another very important aspect of पूर्ण ईश्वरज्ञानं, namely ईश्वर विभूति - the glories of परमेश्वर. A full appreciation and constant realization and recognition of the glories of परमेश्वर is not only ज्ञान साधनं - a means helpful for gaining पूर्ण ईश्वरज्ञानं, it is also a means for enjoying ब्रह्मानन्दं - Supreme Happiness at all times.

Sri Krishna has been talking about ईश्वर विभूति in all the previous chapters, in different ways, using different words, appropriate to the different contexts. As we may recall, the entire 10th chapter of the भगवत् गीता is on ईश्वर विभूति. The ईश्वर उपासन - the worship of परमेश्वर that we do at this temple through विष्णु सहस्त्रनाम अर्चन, is again meditation and contemplation on परमेश्वर through an appreciation and recognition of the glories of परमेश्वर.

And the glory that manifests Itself in anyone, in anything, anywhere, at any time, in this creation, is ONLY a glory of परमेश्चर. In fact, this entire creation, everything in this creation, including every one of us here, both individually and collectively, is a glory of परमेश्चर only. Any glory of परमेश्चर that one can discover, appreciate and recognize is good enough for meditation on परमेश्चर, and ultimately reaching परमेश्चर Itself, and enjoying ब्रह्मानन्द - perennial happiness.

ब्रह्मचिद्या Brahma Vidya

A collective meditation on all the glories of परमेश्चर that one can recognize, is even more effective, because such collective meditation on ईश्चर चिभूति makes ईश्चर स्मरणं - meditation on परमेश्चर into ईश्चर अनुस्मरणं - contemplation on परमेश्चर, which makes union with परमेश्चर already in oneself, and enjoyment of ब्रह्मानन्द even more direct and immediate.

We usually commence our scripture reading here by reciting these Upanishad words ईशायास्यं इदं सर्वम् and conclude with these words पूर्णम् अदः पूर्णम् इदं. All that we see, or we can see in this creation is परमेश्वर Itself whose very nature is Eternal, unchanging, unlimited, fullness Itself, so says the Upanishad. That is the ईश्वर विभूति that we must learn to understand, appreciate, and grow up, to realize and recognize fully.

Anything one can objectify as "this" is इदं. Consequently, every object in this creation, including any event, any change, any experience, any worldly transaction in this creation, and the creation Itself is इदं. We also know that इदं, by its very nature, has only transient existence, and it is ever subject to change, and it is always limited.

That being the nature of इदं, how can there be identity between इदं and परमेश्चर?
Our mind and बुद्धि must be absolutely clear on this matter in order to be able to understand, appreciate, recognize and enjoy all ईश्वर विभूतिs, both individually and collectively.

The relationship between इंदे and परमेश्वर is like the relationship between the waves in the ocean and the ocean itself. We see that every wave is different from every other wave, and each wave is transient in existence, ever-changing in form and name, and it is always limited in size, shape, power, etc., all of which being peculiar to that particular wave only. At the same time, we also realize that every wave arises from the ocean, is sustained by the ocean, and it ultimately merges back into the ocean, giving up all individual distinctions.

No wave has any existence independent of the ocean. When we see a wave, we are really seeing the ocean itself, not a symbol of the ocean, not a separate object standing as a symbol for the ocean. All limitations of the wave are only incidental to its transient form, and they have nothing to do with its intrinsic nature, which is, being ocean itself. When we touch a wave, we are truly touching the ocean itself.

Bhagvat Gita Chapter 15

ब्रह्मचिद्या Brahma Vidya

Thus, we recognize that every wave in the ocean is ocean itself, and there is no conflict in recognizing the identity between the limited wave and the limitless ocean in terms of their intrinsic nature. So is the case with respect to our recognition of the identity between इंद्र and परमेश्वर in terms of their intrinsic nature.

Thus, we must recognize that all beings in this creation, including all objects, all events, all experiences in this creation, and this entire creation itself, are like waves in the ocean of परमेश्चर, which means परमेश्चर is सर्च व्यवहार आस्पदं – परमेश्चर is That Seat, The Support, The Abode, तत् पदं, वैष्णंचं परमं पदं for all beings, for all objects, for all events, for all changes and for all experiences in this creation, just as the ocean is the seat, the support, the abode for all the waves and their ever-changing manifestations.

Thus, परमेश्चर is सर्वात्मा, सर्वभूतात्मा - The Self, The Abode, The तत् पदं, the natural home, the natural destination of every individual self in this creation, which means परमेश्चर is The Self I for every being in this creation. That is ईश्चर विभूति, the glory of परमेश्चर.

To understand and appreciate ईश्चर चिभूति – glories of परमेश्चर, is simply to realize and recognize fully this extraordinary fact of nature, namely, परमेश्चर is सर्वात्मा, सर्वभृतात्मा, the natural destination for every human being in this creation.

It is that ईश्चर चिभूति, that glory of परमेश्चर, to which Sri Krishna calls attention in today's verses. भगवान् says:

यत् आदित्यगतं तेजःजगत् भासयतेऽखिलं । यत् चन्द्रमसि यत् च अग्नौ तत् तेजः विद्धि मामकम् ॥ 15-12

विद्धि - Please understand . When भगवान् says विद्धि, it means what is being pointed out is not a trivial matter. It must be listened to, understood, realized and recognized beyond doubt, through proper inquiry. What is being pointed out here is ईश्वर विभूति - the glory of परमेश्वर, in particular the सर्वात्मत्वं of परमेश्वर, That परमेश्वर is The आत्मा - The Self I of every Being in this creation, सर्व व्यवहार आस्पदत्वं - परमेश्वर is the abode of all worldly transactions, events and personal experiences. Pointing out that ईश्वर विभूति, भगवान् says:

यत् अदित्यगतं तेजः -That which is the तेजस् of अदित्य, that which is the brilliant light which emanates from the sun

ब्रह्मचिद्या Brahma Vidya

यत् अखिलं जगत् भास्यते - which light illumines the entire world

तत् तेजः मामकम् - That तेजस्, that brilliant light is मामकम् (मदीयं) Mine. That brilliant light belongs to Me, The परमेश्चर only. परमेश्चर being The आत्मा for the sun, the intrinsic nature of sun itself is परमेश्चर only. The sun has no existence independent of परमेश्चर. Hence the glory of the sun is indeed the glory of परमेश्चर only. Similarly,

यत् चन्द्रमसि तेजः तत् तेजः च मामकम् - That which is the cool reflected light which emanates from the moon, that light also is Mine only

यत् अग्नो तेजः, तत् तेजः च मामकम् - That which is the heat and the light which emanates from the fire, that heat and light also is Mine only.

Thus, भगवान् says "I am the sun. I am the moon. I am the fire, the glory of the sun, the glory of the moon, the glory of the fire, all that glory is My glory alone". The sun, the moon, the fire, each according to its own उपाधि – the शरीर, manifests the glory of परमेश्वर only.

तेजस् also means ज्योति स्यरूप चैतन्य आत्मा - The Self-effulgent Pure Consciousness, which is the consciousness in all beings. Therefore, the consciousness of आदित्य देवता, चन्द्र देवता and अग्नि देवता is also परमेश्वर only. Further, the sun, the moon, and the fire are उपलक्षणंड - illustrations, which means, by implication, they stand for all beings in this creation. Therefore, परमेश्वर is indeed all beings in this creation. That is the message here. Further,

गामाविश्य च भृतानि धारयामि अहं ओजसा । पुष्णामि च ओषधीः सर्वाः सोमो भृत्वा रसात्मकः ॥ 15-13

गां अचिश्य अहं ओजसा - गां अचिश्य means पृथिचीम् अचिश्य. Having entered into the earth

अहं धारयामि - I, The परमेश्चर, support and sustain

भूतानि - all beings on earth. How?

ओजसा - by My inherent strength and power, by ईश्चर बल.

Having entered into the earth, I The परमेश्वर, support and sustain all beings on earth, including the earth itself, by My ओजस्, by My inherent strength and power.

Bhagvat Gita Chapter 15

ब्रह्मचिद्या Brahma Vidya

Now, "गां अचिश्य - having entered into the earth" means what? परमेश्चर is already everywhere in this creation. That being so, where does परमेश्चर enter?

As we saw in the Taittiriya Upanishad, even while this universe was recalled into omniscient vision of परमेश्चर (ज्ञान दृष्टि), परमेश्चर had already entered into this creation as the laws governing the very existence of this creation. Thus, the very nature of these laws is परमेश्चर Itself. These laws, which we call as the unchanging laws of nature, permeate into all aspects of existence in this grossified created universe. That is how परमेश्चर has entered into this creation, into everything that happens to this creation, and into every being that exists in this creation.

Therefore गाँ अचिश्य "having entered into the earth" means permeating everything that happens to this earth, and to every being on this earth as the unchanging, all-pervading, and all-powerful laws of nature, which we see and experience every day in life.

The power here is ओजस्, ईश्वर बलं - the inherent strength and power of परमेश्वर, which is again परमेश्वर Itself, as भगवान् said earlier " बलं बलवतां अस्मि काम राग विवर्जितं (7-11). It is that बलं, that ईश्वर बलं, that is pointed out here. That बलं is परमेश्वर Itself, independent of this creation.

Therefore, भगवान् says here: "By the strength and power of My laws alone, the earth is earth, the space is space, the earth remains firmly in place as it does, and all the beings on earth are being supported and sustained". Further

रसात्मकः सोमः भृत्वा सर्वाः ओषधीः पुष्णामिः - Here सोमः means चन्द्र - the moon

रसात्मकः सोमः भूत्वा means रसमयः चन्द्रः सन् - By being the moon in the form of the watery sap in all plants

सर्चाः ओषधीः (अहं) पुष्णामि च - I, The परमेश्वर, nourish and sustain the entire plant kingdom. The cool rays of the moon are necessary for the conversion of water into the necessary sap to keep the plants healthy and productive so that they can serve as the sources for the nutritious food for all living beings on earth. The watery sap in every plant is itself a manifestation of the glory of परमेश्वर. Further,

अहं वैश्वानरो भृत्वा प्राणिनां देहमाश्रितः । प्राणापानसमायुक्तः पचाम्यन्नं चतुर्विधं ॥

ब्रह्मचिद्या Brahma Vidya

अहं प्राणिनां देहं आश्रितः चैश्वानरो भृत्वा - I, The परमेश्वर, becoming, which means manifesting Myself as चैश्वानर देवता - the divine digestive fire, in the body of all जीवs - all living beings

प्राणापान समायुक्तः अहं चतुर्विधं अन्नं पचामि – I cook, which means, I am the very process of digesting, all the four kinds of food, which process involves the divine functionaries of प्राण देवता, अपान देवता, etc., who are non-separate from Myself, The परमेश्वर.

As the चैश्वानर देवता in the physical body of every person, I, The परमेश्वर, is the digester of the food eaten, and hence, really, I am the eater of the food, which itself is Myself only - अहं अन्न अहं अन्नादः as we have seen already in Taittiriya Upanishad.

The divine functionaries involved in the digestive process are प्राण - respiration, अपान - waste elimination, च्यान - blood circulation, उदान - the entire biochemical process of assimilation, and समान - system reaction. All these five प्राणंs are देचतांs, both individually and collectively, non-separate from चैश्चानर देचतां, The परमेश्चर Itself already in the body of every person.

Eating food is an act of worship of परमेश्चर. That is why, every time, before we eat, we offer the food to all the प्राण देवताs through मन्त्रs:

प्राणाय स्वाहा, अपानाय स्वाहा, व्यानाय स्वाहा, उदानाय स्वाहा, समानाय स्वाहा and ब्रह्मणे स्वाहा – By the स्वाहा मन्त्र, one does कर्मफल त्याग – renunciation of the कर्मफल arising from the action of eating. By such renunciation, the very action of eating becomes अन्न ब्रह्म उपासन – worship of परमेश्वर, and the food Itself becomes ईश्वर प्रसादं – the very grace of परमेश्वर.

Whether you do अन्न ब्रह्म उपासन or not, your food will be digested in accordance with the unchanging laws of nature, which are independent of your own actions. But, if you do the अन्न ब्रह्म उपासन every time before you eat anything, that helps you to cultivate ईश्चर भक्ति and ईश्चर ज्ञानं in your continuing endeavour to reach The Highest in yourself.

चतुर्विधं अत्रं - Vedanta classifies food under four broad categories. They are:

भोज्यं, भक्ष्यं, चोष्यं and लेह्यं

Flindu Temple of Ottawa-Carleton Inc. 4835 Bank Street, Ottawa, Ontario KTX 1G6

ब्रह्मचिद्या Brahma Vidya

भोज्यं - that which is eaten just by tasting

भक्ष्यं - that which is masticated by teeth and then eaten

चोष्यं - that which is eaten by biting and eating only the juicy part, and

लेह्यं - that which is licked and eaten

Thus we understand that all food is परमेश्चर, and the one who digests the food is also परमेश्चर, which means the eater also is परमेश्चर. All this is only to point out that चासुदेचः सर्चम् इति ज्ञानं - the knowledge that परमेश्चर is indeed everything there is in this creation - ईशाचास्यं इदं सर्चम् ज्ञानं

Pointing out that glory of परमेश्वर, Sri Krishna says:

सर्वस्य चाहं हृदि सिन्निविष्टो मत्तः स्मृतिर्ज्ञानमपोहनं च । वेदैश्य सर्वैः अहमेव वेद्यो वेदान्तकृत् वेदविदेव चाहं ॥ 15-15

This is one of the famous verses in the भगवत् गीता, often recited during ईश्वर उपासन - one's personal worship of परमेश्वर, and also during one's प्रांत आत्मा अनुस्मरनणं - early morning Self- recognition.

We will see this verse in detail next time.
