ब्रह्मविद्या Brahma Vidya

This final chapter in this Upanishad, entitled भृगु वल्ली bhṛgu vallī is also presented here as an Upanishad in itself, with beginning and ending शान्ति śānti mantras, already familiar to us. This chapter constitutes a mode of contemplation - उपासन upāsana, on the Veda-Upanishad teachings unfolded in the earlier two chapters. In particular, these उपासन (Upasana) mantras highlight the importance and efficacy of तपस् tapas - self-discipline for the successful pursuit of ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānaṁ, ईश्वर ज्ञानं īśvara jñānaṁ, आत्म ज्ञानं ātma jñānaṁ- Self-knowledge, Self-discovery, ब्रह्मानन्द brahmānand - The Supreme Joy such Self-discovery is.

As we have learnt from Chapter 1 (Lesson 9), the तपस् tapas - self discipline here involves the inseparable integration of three essential components in daily life, namely being truthful in thought word and deed at all times, and maintaining proper conduct, ethical behavior and good moral character at all times

वाक् तपस् vāk tapas, काय तपस् kāya tapas and मानस तपस् mānasa tapas - total self-control with respect to actions involving speech, organs of perception and action, and mind and

वेद अध्ययनं veda adhyayanaṁ and वेद अध्यापनं veda adhyāpanaṁ - learning and teaching the knowledge of the Vedas and the Upanishads, both for the good of one's own self, as well as the good of the entire society.

All the above three components together constitute the तपस् tapas - self-discipline needed for gaining ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānaṁ, recognizing ब्रह्मन् brahman, becoming a ब्रह्मवित् brahmavit- knower of ब्रह्मन् brahman, enjoying ब्रह्मानन्द brahmānand.

तपस् tapas takes different forms at different times for different people. Whatever form it takes with respect to the pursuit of ब्रह्मज्ञानं brahma jñānaṁ, such तपस् tapas involves two simultaneous requirements, namely: विचार vicāra - an enquiring bent of mind and बुद्धि buddhi rooted in श्रद्धा śraddhā in ब्रह्मज्ञानं brahma jñānaṁ, and इन्द्रिय निग्रह indriya nigraha - complete control over one's organs of perception and action, so that they are utilized totally for the pursuit of ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānaṁ. The Gita says (4 - 39):

ब्रह्मविद्या Brahma Vidya

श्रद्धायान् लभते ज्ञानं, तत् परः संयतेन्द्रियः

śraddhāvān labhate jñānaṁ, tat paraḥ saṁyatendriyaḥ

श्रद्धा śraddhā is overriding commitment to the pursuit of ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānaṁ, and

संयत इन्द्रिय saṁyata indriya is complete mastery over one's sense organs and sense pursuits. The one who has both श्रद्धा śraddhā and संयत इन्द्रिय saṁyata indriya gains ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānaṁ, assures Sri Krishna.

How does one get श्रद्धा śraddhā and संयत इन्द्रिय saṁyata indriya with respect to ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānaṁ? That is primarily a matter of one's own values in life. श्रद्धा śraddhā in ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānaṁ arises from one's realization of the value of ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānaṁ for accomplishing one's overriding objective in life, namely gaining absolute freedom, peace and happiness. Such realization itself requires a level of spiritual maturity.

For us, who have already listened to कठोपनिषत् kāthopaniṣat in its entirety, Nachiketa ever shines in our mind and बुद्धि buddhi as the very embodiment of श्रद्धा śraddhā in ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānaṁ. संयत इन्द्रिय saṁyata indriya - Complete control over one's sense organs and sense pursuits is possible only through अभ्यास - practice and वैराग्य vairāgya- dispassion, which means total objectivity in focusing one's mind and बुद्धि buddhi on the mission to be accomplished. In the pursuit of ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānaṁ, the mission is to become a ब्रह्मविद् brahmavit - knower of ब्रह्मन् brahman, enjoying ब्रह्मानन्द brahmānand, through विचार - self-enquiry.

Such विचार vicāra and इन्द्रिय निग्रह indriya nigraha together constitute the तपस् tapas which is ब्रह्म ज्ञान साधनं brahma jñāna sādhanam, the key to the successful pursuit of ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānaṁ. To highlight the importance of such तपस् tapas for gaining ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānaṁ, the उपासन upāsana mantras in this chapter start with a short account of an extraordinary event that happened in the life of Brigu, long time ago. Who is Brigu? The Upanishad says:

भृगुर्वै चारुणिः bhṛgurvai vāruṇih

वै vai - As it is well known भृगुः चारुणिः bhṛguh vāruṇih - Bhrigu is the son of वरुण देवता varuṇ devatā

ब्रह्मविद्या Brahma Vidya

That means, what follows is not a mere story for illustration. It is a real event in the life of Brigu, the son of Varuna Devata, who is the presiding deity for water and all it signifies in this creation. From what follows, we will see that the तपस् tapas of भृगु bhṛgu is a source of inspiration to all those who are in the pursuit of ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānam. About that Brigu, the Upanishad continues:

वरुणं पितरमुपससार, भृगुः पितरं वरुणं उपससार varuṇam pitaramupasasāra, bhṛguḥ pitaram varuṇam upasasāra - Brigu approached his father Varuna in the proper manner with this request (उपससार upasasāra) अधीहि भगवो ब्रह्मति adhīhi bhagavo brahmati - अधीहि भगवः ब्रह्म इति adhīhi bhagavaḥ brahma iti

भगवः bhagavaḥ, भगवन् bhagavan - Revered Sir

अधीहि ब्रह्म adhīhi brahma - Please teach me ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānam. Please teach me how to become a ब्रह्मवित् brahmavit, how to know ब्रह्मन् brahman, reach ब्रह्मन् brahman, recognize ब्रह्मन् brahman, enjoy ब्रह्मानन्द brahmānand.

इति iti - so Brigu requested Varuna

Brigu approached his father Varuna in the proper manner with the proper attitude, and requested him to teach him the means to reach ब्रह्मन् brahman, recognize ब्रह्मन् brahman, enjoy ब्रह्मानन्द brahmānand. This opening sentence tells us something about Brigu, Varuna, and the auspicious nature of this extraordinary event in the Vedic age.

When does a person approach a teacher seeking ब्रह्मज्ञानं brahma jñānam? Only when the person is ready for such knowledge. Hence, we may understand that Brigu was one who was already knowledgeable enough to seek ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānam. He was ready for such knowledge, and he was also mature enough to recognize in his father Varuna, the appropriate teacher for his purpose.

वरुण varuṇa being an अधिष्ठान देवता adhiṣṭhān devatā - a presiding deity in this creation, is Himself fit to be worshipped as परमेश्वर parameśvar Himself. Hence by approaching Varuna as the teacher, Brigu was actually seeking the very grace of परमेश्वर parameśvar for the fulfillment of his purpose, namely gaining ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānam, becoming a ब्रह्मवित् brahmavit, enjoying ब्रह्मानन्द brahmānand. By addressing his father as भगवन् bhagavan, it is clear that भृगु bhṛgu approached Varuna as teacher for gaining ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānam.

Brigu's request "अधीहि भगवो ब्रह्म adhihi bhagavo brahma" is itself a Veda mantra, which is the formal way a committed student seeks ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānam from a revered teacher. Such seeking is called विधिवत् गुरु उपासनम् vidhivat guru upāsanam – approaching a revered teacher in person in the proper manner with proper attitude.

The best a father can give to a son is ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānam, because it is the only thing that can give lasting happiness to any person. Therefore, Varuna was happy to accept Brigu as a शिष्य śiṣya– as a disciple-student to teach the means of reaching ब्रह्मन् brahman. It is not often that a father-son relationship coincides with the teacher-student relationship with respect to ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānam. When that happens, it is indeed an auspicious event, fit to be remembered and glorified. That is what the Upanishad does here.

Thus Brigu approached his father Varuna, and requested him, in proper manner to teach Brigu the knowledge about the means of reaching ब्रह्मन् brahman, recognizing ब्रह्मन् brahman. Then what happened?

तस्मा एतत् प्रोवाच tasmā etat provāca
तस्मा tasmā – तस्मै tasmai To him, to Brigu
एतत् etat – as follows
प्रोवाच provāca – commenced his teaching

In this chapter, the Upanishad statements are cryptic. Only the essential words are given. Details have to be filled up.

तस्मा एतत् प्रोवाच tasmā etat provāca – Lord Varuna accepted Brigu as student, disciple for ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānam and commenced his teachings as follows:

अन्नं प्राणं चक्षुः श्रोत्रं मनो वाचम् इति annam prāṇam cakṣuḥ śrotram mano vācam iti – Lord Varuna first points out the instruments by which ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānam can be gained, ब्रह्मन् brahman can be reached, ब्रह्मन् brahman can be recognized. These instruments are:

अन्नं annam – Food. It also means शरीर śarīra – the physical body. In this Upanishad, both the meanings are applicable.

ब्रह्मविद्या Brahma Vidya

प्राणं prāṇam - Here प्राणं prāṇam stands for the sacred fire already in one's physical body, making all body-functions possible

चक्षुः श्रोत्रं मनो वाचम् caṅṣuḥ śrotraṁ mano vācam - the organs of perception and action, such as sight, hearing, mind, speech, etc.

Lord Varuna's method of teaching here is different from what we saw in the last chapter. Lord Varuna does not tell directly what ब्रह्मन् brahman is. He wants Brigu to recognize ब्रह्मन् brahman by himself in himself, through his own process of enquiry. He, however, helps Brigu with some pointers. Therefore he says:

"In order to reach ब्रह्मन् brahman, recognize ब्रह्मन् brahman, you do not have to go anywhere outside of your own physical body and organs of perception and action you are already blessed with. Direct your mind and बुद्धि buddhi, already in yourself, through your body instruments of perception and action, because, अन्नं प्राणं चक्षुः श्रोत्रं मनो वाचम् annaṁ prāṇam caṅṣuḥ śrotraṁ mano vācam etc. are ब्रह्म ज्ञान साधनानि brahma jñāna sādhanāni - they are the means for gaining ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānam. They are ब्रह्मउपलभ्यध्वाराणि brahma upalabhya dhvārāṇi. They are the doors through which you can enter into yourself, you can reach ब्रह्मन् brahman, you can recognize ब्रह्मन् brahman, already in yourself.

अन्नं annaṁ here means शरीर śarīra - the physical body, the entire कारण kāraṇa, कार्य kārya, संगत saṅgāta - the cause-effect assembly within the body one is already blessed with. प्राणं prāṇam here means अत्तारं attāraṁ - the one who eats, the eater. Now, who is the eater in one's physical body? ब्रह्मन् brahman is the eater. Sri Krishna says: (G .15-4)

अहं वैश्वनरो भूत्वा प्राणिनां देहमाश्रितः ।

ahaṁ vaiśvanaro bhūtvā praṇināṁ dehamāśritaḥ ।

प्राणापानसमायुक्तः पचाम्यन्नं चतुर्विधम् ॥

praṇāpāna samāyuktaḥ pacāmyannaṁ caturvidham ॥

Bhagwan is the very वैश्वनर vaiśvanara - the sacred fire in the body. Whatever food we eat, that is again cooked by वैश्वनर vaiśvanara - the sacred fire already existing in the physical body of all living beings. This वैश्वनर vaiśvanara fire - the digestive fire, is linked to प्राण prāṇa, अपान apaana, व्यान vyaana, उदान udāna and समान

ब्रह्मविद्या Brahma Vidya

samāna, and indeed to all physiological functions. Therefore, in this Upanishad, प्राण prāṇa stands for वैश्वनर vaiśvanara, which includes all of one's physiological functions, चक्षुः cakṣuḥ and श्रोत्रं śrotram - organs of sight and hearing stand for all ज्ञानेन्द्रियस jñānendriyas - organs of perception, वाक् vāk - organ of speech stands for all कर्मेन्द्रियस karmendriyas - organs of action, and मनः manaḥ - the mind stands for the entire अन्तःकरण antaḥ karaṇa - the internal organs of perception namely मनस् manas, बुद्धि buddhi, अहंकार ahaṁkāra and चित्त citta (mind, intellect, ego, and the faculty of recollection). Naturally, therefore, मनः manaḥ stands for विज्ञानं also - the faculty by which one ultimately recognizes ब्रह्मन् brahman already in oneself. All the above components of the physical body are ब्रह्म उपलभ्यध्वारस brahma upalabhya dhvāras. They are doors by crossing which the unseen ब्रह्मन् brahman can be seen, can be recognized in oneself. That is what Lord Varuna points out by saying:

अन्नं प्राणं चक्षुः श्रोत्रं मनो वाचम् इति annaṁ prāṇaṁ cakṣuḥ śrotram mano vācam iti (प्रोवाच provāca) - Having said that, Lord Varuna continues
तँ होवाच taṁ hovāca - तँ taṁ (भृगुं bhṛguṁ), (वरुणः varuṇaḥ) उवाच ह uvāca ha

तँ भृगुं taṁ bhṛguṁ - to the student-disciple Brigu, the कारं m kāra here indicates that Brigu is not an ordinary student. He is already a well-informed जिज्ञासु jiḥāsū, one totally committed to the successful pursuit of ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma. To that Brigu

वरुणः उवाच ह varuṇaḥ uvāca ha - Lord Varuna told the following also. The word ह ha here indicates that the Upanishad is reporting the event just as it happened. Having told Brigu that अन्नं प्राणं annaṁ prāṇaṁ etc. are the doors, by crossing which he can reach ब्रह्मन् brahman, already in himself, Lord Varuna tells him also three ब्रह्म लक्षणस brahma lakṣaṇas, three distinguishing marks, all of which together can help him in recognizing ब्रह्मन् brahman already in himself, beyond any doubt. What are those ब्रह्मलक्षणस brahma lakṣaṇas? Lord Varuna says:

यतः yataḥ - यस्मात् yasmāt - That from which

Hindu Temple of Ottawa-Carleton Inc.

ब्रह्मविद्या Brahma Vidya

वा vā - indeed

इमानि भूतानि imāni bhūtāni - इदं सर्वम् idaṁ sarvam - all that exist in this creation

जायन्ते jāyante - are born

येन जातानि जीवन्ति yena jātāni jīvanti

येन yena - That by which, That because of which

जातानि jātāni - those which are born

जीवन्ति jīvanti - live and grow, and

यत् प्रयन्ति अभिसंविशन्ति yat pryanti abhisamviśanti

यत् yat - That into which, all those which live and grow

प्रयन्ति pryanti - on departing from life

अभिसंविशन्ति abhisamviśanti - go back, enter into entirely.

Therefore, the three ब्रह्मलक्षणसु brahma lakṣaṇas given to Brigu are:

यतो वा इमानि भूतानि जायन्ते yato vā imāni bhūtāni jāyante - That from which all that exist in this creation are born

येन जातानि जीवन्ति yena jātāni jīvanti - That by which, those which are born live and grow, and

यत् प्रयन्ति अभिसंविशन्ति yat pryanti abhisamviśanti - That into which all those which live and grow, on departing from life, go back, enter into entirely, giving up their forms and names, and become ONE with That from which they came. After giving the above three लक्षणसु lakṣaṇas of ब्रह्मन् brahman, Lord Varuna tells Brigu:

तत् विजिज्ञासस्व tat vijijñāśasva - तत् विशेषेण ज्ञातुं इच्छस्व tat viśeṣeṇa jñātum icchasva - May you desire to know, and find out for yourself, clearly, without any doubt, That which satisfies all the three लक्षणसु lakṣaṇas - characteristics given above. When you do that

तत् ब्रह्मेति tat brahmeti - तत् ब्रह्म इति tat brahma iti

तत् ब्रह्म brahma - That is ब्रह्मन् brahman

इति iti - so said Lord Varuna.

Hindu Temple of Ottawa-Carleton Inc.

Let us understand the ब्रह्मलक्षणसु brahma lakṣaṇas given by Lord Varuna. I am like a wave in the ocean. Before I was born, I was in ब्रह्मन् brahman in the unmanifest state. After I was born, and while I am alive, I am in ब्रह्मन् brahman in the manifest state. And, after the death of my body, I will still be in ब्रह्मन् brahman in the unmanifest state. Thus, in all my three states of existence, before birth, during lifetime, and after death, I retain my state of existence in ब्रह्मन् brahman.

Therefore, Lord Varuna says: "That in which all living beings retain their state of being in all the three states of existence, That is ब्रह्मन् brahman. May you recognize That ब्रह्मन् brahman in yourself with the help of अन्नं annam, प्राणं prāṇam, etc. and also the three ब्रह्म लक्षणसु brahma lakṣaṇas given to you." So saying, Lord Varuna left his son Brigu to himself, to proceed on his own.

Keeping in mind his father's instructions

स तपोऽतप्यत sa tapo'tapyata - सः saḥ (भृगुः bhṛguh) तपः अतप्यत - tapaḥ atapyata - Brigu did तपस् tapas, contemplating on ब्रह्मन् brahman. Brigu resorted to तपस् tapas for knowing ब्रह्मन् brahman on his own accord, at his own initiative, because he was sufficiently well informed to realize that तपस् tapas was the only surest and the most efficient means for accomplishing any desired objective. His commitment to the pursuit of ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānam was so absolute that he naturally resorted to तपस् tapas to gain ब्रह्म ज्ञानं brahma jñānam, reach ब्रह्मन् brahman, already in himself. -

स तपस्तप्त्या sa tapastaptvā - सः तपः तप्त्या saḥ tapaḥ taptvā - Brigu, having performed his तपस् tapas...

Here ends Lesson 1 of this chapter. What happened then, we will see next time.
